

COLLECTION OF BOOKS ACROSS GENRES ON SHADOWS

Light and Shadow by Jo Lynn Alcorn (Scholastic, 1996)

Bear Shadow by Frank Asch (Prentice Hall, 1985)

What Makes a Shadow? by Clyde Robert Buila (HarperCollins, 1962, 1994)

Shadow by Blaise Cendrars, translated and illustrated by Marcia Brown (Scribner, 1982)

Cloudy Day Sunny Day by Donald Crews (Harcourt Brace, 1999)

Me and My Shadow by Arthur Dorros (Scholastic, 1990)

Gregory's Shadow by Don Freeman (Viking, 2000)

Shadows and Reflections by Tana Hoban (Greenwillow, 1990)

Ground Hog Day by Lilian Moore. In The Random House Book of Poetry for Children edited by Jack Prelutsky (Random House, 1983)

I Have a Friend by Keiko Narahashi (Margaret K. McElderry, 1987)

The Random House Book of Poetry for Children edited by Jack Prelutsky (Random House, 1983)

"Shadow Race" by Shel Silverstein. In A Light in the Attic (HarperCollins, 2005)

"Shadow Wash" by Shel Silverstein. In Where the Sidewalk Ends (HarperCollins, 2004)

My Shadow by Robert Louis Stevenson, illustrated by Monique Felix (Creative Editions, 2002)

My Shadow by Robert Louis Stevenson, illustrated by Penny Dale (Candlewick, 1999)

"My Shadow" by Robert Louis Stevenson. In Leaves From a Child's Garden of Verses (Smithmark, 1993)

My Shadow by Robert Louis Stevenson, illustrated by Ted Rand (Putnam, 1990)

My Shadow by Robert Louis Stevenson. Available:

http://www.poetryloverspage.com/poets/stevenson/my_shadow.html

Guess Whose Shadow? by Stephen R. Swinburne (Boyd's Mills Press, 1999)

Nothing Sticks Like a Shadow by Ann Tompert (Houghton Mifflin, 1984)

Shadow Story by Nancy Willard (Harcourt, 1999)

